IIS 101: The Basics

IIS /i-i-s/ Noun, plural: confidential, population-based, computerized databases that record all immunization doses administered by participating providers to persons residing within a given geopolitical area. The most powerful tool for managing immunization records and supporting healthier communities. The following are five ways an IIS makes the community stronger:

1 Connects People with Information

IIS are public health systems that maintain electronic vaccination records, managed by health departments in states, territories, counties, and cities. Each of the systems collects and shares data across multiple healthcare organizations, clinics, and pharmacies in a jurisdiction. IIS provide a consolidated record of administered vaccines, connecting participating providers with patients' complete vaccination history. Access to this data is critical for maintaining accurate patient records across multiple point-of-care providers.

2 Promotes Comprehensive Immunization Records

As confidential, electronic systems, IIS allows healthcare providers, pharmacies, health administrators, health insurance payers, school systems, and consumers varying levels of access to comprehensive vaccination histories. For example, IIS help public health implement

78% of Minnesota children got the MMR vaccine by age 2 years in 2016. We need higher rates for MMR and other vaccines to protect children and prevent outbreaks. Check out your county's vaccination rates with our interactive map.

Congrats to our Minnesota Immunization Information Connection (MIIC) program for receiving the Centers of Excellence Award and Advancing IIS Award from American Immunization Registry Association! MIIC is an electronic system that stores immunization records and provides tools to help ensure Minnesotans get the right vaccines at the right time. These awards recognize the innovative work our staff are doing with local and national partners to improve immunization activities across the state. #NHITWeek

Health information technology can make our lives easier and help keep us healthy! For example, our immunization information system, called the Minnesota Immunization Information Connection (MIIC), combines a person's immunizations into a single record, even if they were given by different health care providers in the state. This helps make sure you and your loved ones get the right vaccines at the right time. Here's how you can request your or your child's immunization record from us. #NHITWeek
